GFarmaLabs CONTINUES EXPANSION AND INNOVATION FOR CANNABIS CONSUMERS IN CALIFORNIA AND BEYOND THROUGH AN EXCLUSIVE LICENSING PARTNERSHIP WITH Tech Holdings

Strategic partnership between leading cannabis infused products manufacturer and distributor and first-of-its-kind patent pending fast-acting cannabis technology company to bring distribution through more than 1,000 dispensaries in California

NEW YORK and ANAHEIM, CA – June XX, 2017 –G FarmaLabs, a producer/processor of cannabis flower, cannabis oil and cannabis infused edible products and Tech Holdings, the developer of the innovative technology for Quigley’s and other products in the cannabis edibles and beverage industry, today announced an exclusive licensing partnership between the two organizations.

The partnership will enable both companies to work closely together and expand G FarmaLabs’ catalogue of cannabis infused products and delivery methods through Tech Holdings’ signature patent pending fast-acting technology.

Tech Holdings has gained momentum in cannabis industry circles for its innovative, first-of-its-kind technology that has been used in Quigley’s, a liquid THC fast-acting cannabis shot. As part of the partnership, a variety of Quigley’s branded products will be launched starting in Q3 2017 and added to the G FarmaLabs portfolio and product line.

The partnership provides immediate distribution into the more than 1,100 dispensaries throughout California where G FarmaLabs products are found. Additionally, the partnership will enable further expansion into Washington State and other legal markets in the near future.

G FarmaLabs will support the manufacturing, marketing, sales and distribution of the Quigley's line of products, while Tech Holdings will provide the proprietary fast acting cannabis technology to infuse select G FarmaLabs’ products.

“We are thrilled to announce this exclusive licensing partnership between G FarmaLabs and Tech Holdings,” said Ata Gonzalez, Founder of G Farma Labs. “With our brand recognition, distribution reach and presence throughout the State of California, and Tech Holdings’ state-of-the-art technology and fast-acting formula, it truly is a match made in heaven. We are committed to providing our customers with constant innovation and a top of the line experience with their favorite cannabis infused products.”

G FarmaLabs has solidified itself as a leading cannabis infused products manufacturer and distributor in the United States. Based in California, G FarmaLabs’ products are distributed in more than 1,100 dispensaries across the state. G FarmaLabs’ portfolio includes a suite of nearly one hundred cannabis infused edibles and beverage product SKU's, such as G Drinks, G Stiks, G Nugs, Chocolate Bars, Chocolate Truffles, Liquid Gold Vape Oil, 100% Raw Honey, and others.

“The reaction to Quigley’s and other products that are infused with Tech Holdings’ signature patent pending fast-acting technology has been overwhelmingly positive,” said Tony Alfieri, Founder of Tech Holdings. “We wanted to provide this at scale to the millions of consumers throughout the State of California and other legal markets in the United States, and we couldn’t think of a better partner with whom to activate this than G FarmaLabs.”
